As I like to manage storage smartly, I found this feature unnecessary And hence, I decided to completely stop Mac's Mail app from downloading attachments automatically.. By default, Apple's email app automatically download all the recent attachments (up to 15 months old) regardless of their importance.

Open up your Outlook email client Click on File located in the upper toolbar ; Select the Options setting.. ; Next, under Message format, set When sending messages in Rich text format to Internet recipients to Convert to HTML.. ; From here, select the Mail category ; Now, under Compose messages, you want to ensure the HTML or Plain Text option is selected for the Compose messages in this format.. While cleaning up the storage hogging files and also discovering the tricks to keep them at bay, I came to know that the stock Mail app was playing the villainous role.. Should you also want to disable this auto-downloading feature, follow along as I walk you through the quick steps!.
